

Taking the Limits Out of Limited Distribution Drugs

Over 400
unique medications considered LDDs

Most of them are specialty drugs

No one pharmacy has access to all LDDs

What is a Limited Distribution Drug (LDD)

Limited Distribution Drugs (LDDs) are medications that are only available through certain pharmacies designated by the manufacturer. Access can range from a broad network of pharmacies to just one or two. This is often the case with specialty medications because of their complexity.

Enhancing Your Specialty Network with LDDs

To ensure our members have access to LDDs when they are not available through Elixir Specialty, we have strategically partnered with key specialty pharmacies to create an LDD wrap network that provides:

Comprehensive clinical solutions

- Expanded copay solutions
- Case management
- Outcomes reporting

Improved controls over spend

- Meaningful discounts
- Performance guarantees
- Cost-saving interventions

Enhanced member experience

- Reduced time to fill
- Clear member communication
- Timely pharmacy onboarding and care

With these strategic partnerships and crafted solutions, Elixir is able to provide optimal care and outcomes for members taking complex LDDs, while providing optimum savings for our clients at no additional cost.
